

EXPERIENCES WORTH KNOWING

Seeing Nature's Mind | Regenerating Place April 27 to May 2, 2018

Join us for an extraordinary several days exploring the power of patterns of nature at Spillian in the Catskills, learning to see nature and place as both inspiration and guide. Two workshops are offered together featuring internationally recognized living systems specialist Joel Glanzberg and regenerative leader, John Boecker. The first part combines the perspectives of traditional tracking (pattern reading), living systems thinking (pattern thinking) and regenerative design (pattern design), so we can relearn to see with Nature's mind and design as essential members of this living world. The second part is an immersion in our work as we continue our efforts to apply regenerative design principles in the master planning of Spillian's 33 acre estate. Come learn and work with us.
