

THINKING WORTH KNOWING

E S S E N C E

Each living being has an essence, an entirely unique quiddity, a singular essential nature. This essence is directly connected to an equally unique aim that combines with their gifts to reveal a role. This essence processes in a distinct way, aligns with a particular purpose, and produces a singular usefulness in reciprocal relationship to other beings. Understanding the essence of another being, organization, or place is fundamental to your capability to affect meaningful change. Does your organization have a clear role designed to influence the systems your clients are seeking to transform? Do you feel an essence-to-essence resonance with your clients? Are you living in alignment with your true essential nature?

Join us as we explore what it means to fully engage in a regenerative practice to produce living systems focused design. Learn more at sevengroup.com/syntheigrative

THANKS FOR CHECKING IT OUT

7group

www.sevengroup.com